Segregation classes are based on the occupational groups on the most detailed level of the Classification of Occupations 2010 (4-digit or 5-digit level). The shares in the table are calculated from those with an occupational category. The total number of wage or salary earners was 2,173,467 of whom 52 per cent were women and 48 per cent men. Occupation remained unknown for some 3.4 per cent of all wage or salary earners, for 3.0 per cent of all female wage and salary earners and for 3.9 per cent of all male wage and salary earners in 2023.

The share of opposite-sex persons is 40 to 60 per cent in equal occupations. Over 90 per cent of employed persons are of the predominant gender in the occupations of women and men. The share of the predominant gender in female and male-dominated occupations is over 60 to 90 per cent.
